CONSUMPTION.—There is, perhaps, no discasse with which our country is affected, which sweeps off annually so many victims, as that fell destroyer.—Consumption. Day after day, year after year, the insuliate monster hurries to the portals of the cold and when tomb fresh added victims to its conquest. No walk of life is sacred from its blighting influence. No age is exempt from its death dealing shafts. The eld, the middle-aged and the young, all alike, are food for this common enemy of mankind. The white-haired patriarch, whose life of temperature has readered his system impervious to the attacks of other lils, and whose good deeds prepared him for the enjoyments of life's calm evening, finds Consumption hateoning list fangs upon his vitels, and tearing him from a world ever bright to minds which look complecently on days well spent.

Is there no help for the afflicted! No preventive of the dangers which best us in our changeable and fickle clime! We think there is. And if the allegations of those, who are at least entitled to veracity, may be believed, there is a preventive and a remedy.

PROFESSOR MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELINIR; or. CORDIAL.

THE WONDERFUL VEGETABLE PRODUCTION of which this medicine is composed, has engaged the medical savans of London, Paris, and the chief cities of Europe. Its virtue has been tested, and proclaimed by the highest names in the Faculty of those cities, and testimonials have been presented to its discoverer by the Academics of Medicine of London, Edinburgh, Paris, Berlin and Vienna. During a sojourn in Arabia Petrea, Professor Morse was afflicted with a nervous fever, brought on by intense excitement and imprudent easertions in a torrid senson of the year, which defied his own knowledge of curative means, and for serve time threatened a fatal termination. A Shak of one of the native tribes at length induced him to take a medicine prepared from the roots of herbs common to a mountainous region of the country, which in a few days not only restored him to vigarous health, but renewed the strength of his constitution in a marvellous degree.

THIS HERB

Is one of the principal ingredients used in making this CORDIAL. It is obtained at great expense by the Proprietor and Manufacturer, Mr. Morse, M. D., New-York City. It is the only infallible remedy yet discovered for Nervous, Head and Mind Complaints; it is the meutal physic, long aought for and never before found, the only natural agent that can "ediminister to a mind diseased." In case of Neuralists, Headache, Vertigo, pain in the nerves of the face, and the various train of Nervous Affections, it will produce a cure in an estenishing short period of time; and it will also remove Depression, Excitement, a Tendency to Blush, Reselessors, Sieplezstess, Disike of Society, Incapacity for Stady or Bus ness, Loss of Memory, Confusion, Gishiness, Blood to the Head, Melancholy, Mental Dehilty, Hysterta, Indecision, Wretchedness, Thoughts of Self-Destruction, Fear of Insanity and prolone in the cure of the maladie

LET FACTS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

Hear what the celebrated and distinguished Dr. Wood, of Massachusetts, says of it:

Worksper June 1, 1843.

Dear Sir—It gives me pleasure to inform you that one of my patients while in Boston, procured some of your Cordial which he tells me he has taken two, weeks, and that he is entirely cured. He already looks like a new person who so short a time since looked so pale and thin, and was scarcely able to erawl around. I thought it scarcely possible for him ever to regain his full strength and faculties; his case was an extremely add one. I prescribed the usual medicine used in such cases in the Hospital, but they were of no effect. In the mean time my patient had procured some of your Cordial, which effected a cure, I am satisfied no other medicine could have done. I shall ever warmly recommend it whenever an opportunity occurs. The unventor in my younger days I well retnember, as being considered one of the most skulling hysicians in the United States, and had beard his Cordial very highly spoken of, but was one of the incredibons as to its merits until I was so unexpectedly and satisfactorily curvinced to the contrary.

My office having been in a store where this Cordial was kept for asle for over three years, and my opportunities of judging of its effects somewhat numerous, the wastly increasing demand, and that without a single advertisement, tells for itself. I have seen a case of weakness, which had resisted all treatment for over five years, bothin this place and Philadelphus, and the persons have changed the profession of the work of the
